US Warehouse	■ Atlanta-based
Shopify App	■ Dropship Beauty Shopify app for auto-import

Pros for Raylene:

- Zero upfront investment — perfect for where she is right now
- No MOQ means she can test individual products before scaling
- Atlanta-based US warehouse = fast shipping, no customs headaches
- Custom branding bin option = looks professional to customers
- Free "How to Dropship Hair" course included
- Has the Shopify app that can sync with her store

Cons:

- Membership + setup fee means ~$120–$300 to start

- Margins thinner than factory-direct (roughly $75 profit on a $200 sale per their own example = ~37%)
- Doesn't carry Vietnamese raw hair specifically (mostly Brazilian, Malaysian, Indian origin)
- Some Shopify review users noted wig pricing on longer lengths can approach retail, squeezing margin (Shopify Reviews)
- Bone Straight Raw Vietnamese and Royal Raw Indian Temple will NOT be their strong suit — source those elsewhere

Dropship Beauty (cosmetics & accessories)

URL: dropshipbeauty.com

Note: This is the sister site to Dropship Bundles. Dropship Beauty = cosmetics, lashes, edge control, lace glue. Hair extensions/wigs are on Dropship Bundles. Do not confuse them.

Field	Details
What they sell	Edge control (2oz + 4oz), mink lashes, lip gloss, lace glue, cosmetics — NOT hair bundles/wigs
Products matching yours	Edge Control (Products #14)
Wholesale price	Not published; clients reportedly sell the 2oz for $9.99–$12.99 retail and 4oz for $12.99–$15.99 retail
MOQ	Can buy 1 individually; cases of 20 or 50 available
Fulfillment	Ships to you (not dropship to end customer); all orders ship unbranded
US Warehouse	■ USA-based
Sign-up	Browse dropshipbeauty.com , purchase directly — no membership required for cosmetic items

Use for: Buying unbranded edge control in bulk to sell under the JBH name. The 4oz option lines up directly with Product #14.

Mayvenn

URL: mayvenn.com

Status: Mayvenn's stylist referral/affiliate program is active as of 2026 (discount codes circulate widely), but their dedicated wholesale/Pro dropship program has been largely folded into a stylist-commission model rather than a standalone B2B dropship service. There is no clear "Mayvenn Pro" wholesale portal currently operating for third-party store owners.

Bottom line for Raylene: Mayvenn is not a practical dropship vendor for jussbeautifulhair.com at this stage. It is designed for licensed stylists who earn commissions recommending to their own clientele. Skip it.

Balice Virgin Hair (Direct Dropship)

URL: balicevirginhair.com

Contact: Email: info@balicevirginhair.com | WhatsApp: +86 156-3928-7152

Branding	Will ship with your wrap labels/bags if you send them

Pros for Raylene:

- No membership fee
- No MOQ
- Free drop-ship service with no extra charge
- Can put her packaging on orders

Cons:

- China-based = longer transit time to Pittsburgh customers
- 2026 tariff environment makes China-origin goods more expensive to land
- Quality consistency needs personal vetting via sample order first

SECTION B — DIRECT FROM FACTORY

Buy in bulk and ship yourself. Higher margins (often 2–4× what you pay). Requires upfront cash and storage space, but the quality ceiling is much higher.

- Very long operating history = supply stability

- AZ Hair Instagram shows consistent product quality posts
- Wig catalog is wide and includes exact sizes Raylene carries (13×4, 5×5, 2×6 body wave, etc.)
- Custom branding available

Cons:

- Like all Vietnam factories, you need to verify sample quality first
- Not a dropship service

Apohair

URL: apohair.com

Independent Quality Assessment:

- One Facebook group review: "Past couple years I've been using APO Hair. Their hair can last me a year."
- Apohair's pre-shipment photography process (they send photos of your entire order before it ships) is a standout differentiator
- 15-point QC inspection including cuticle alignment, weight accuracy, texture consistency
- No synthetic fibers, no silicone coating, no floor hair — explicitly certified

Pros for Raylene:

- US WhatsApp number (+1) for easy communication
- Fastest shipping to US (3–5 days) of all direct Vietnam factories
- Very low 200g MOQ — she could test 2 bundles before committing
- ISO certified = real accountability, not just marketing talk
- Covers every product category she sells

Cons:

- Price per unit slightly higher than some competitors (quality premium)
- Still ship-to-Raylene model, not end-customer dropship

Indique Private Label Program

URL: indiquehair.com/pages/private-label-hair-extensions

Field	Details
What they sell	100% Indian temple hair — bundles, wigs, closures, frontals (their "Pure" and "Bounce" collections are temple-sourced)
Products matching yours	Product #6: Royal Raw Indian Temple Bundle — this is their speciality
Wholesale price	Up to 50% off retail with minimum order
MOQ	$1,500 minimum after discount applied

Field	Details
Ship time	Free same-day domestic ground shipping from Boston if ordered by 10am; expedited available
Dropship	■ Ships from US warehouse — confirm dropship capability directly
Net terms	Not standard; inquire
Sign-up	Email info@indiquehair.com or call 877-556-4247

Why Indique for Indian temple specifically:

- Indique owns and operates its own overseas factories and domestic operations — not a reseller
- Approximately 75% of their hair sourced from Indian temple auctions — quarterly verified
- 50,000+ bundles sold in 15 years; the most traceable Indian temple sourcing available to a small US business
- US Boston warehouse = no customs, no import fees, fast delivery

Cons:

- $1,500 opening order minimum is significant for a bootstrapped business
- Premiums pricing relative to Vietnam options
- Not practical until Raylene has steady demand for Indian temple specifically

SECTION C — BEAUTY ESSENTIALS WHOLESALE

For Products #14 (Edge Control 4oz), #15 (Lace Melt Spray), and #16 (Hair Oil Rosemary Mint)

Dropship Beauty / Private Label Wholesale (Edge Control)

URL: dropshipbeauty.com/products/edge-control

Sister site: privatelabelwholesale.com

Field	Details
Products	Clear edge control (2oz, 4oz), Black edition edge control
Wholesale price	Not listed publicly; clients sell 2oz for $9.99–$12.99 retail; 4oz for $12.99–$15.99 retail
MOQ	Buy 1 individually; cases of 20 or 50 for bulk
Dropship	Ships to you unbranded; you fulfill to customer
Private label	■ Ships without their branding; you add your own 2" (2oz) or 2.5" (4oz) circle sticker label
Ship time	1–2 business days processing + shipping
US Warehouse	■ Atlanta

Notes: This is the exact same edge control ecosystem used by hundreds of Black hair brands. The "Private Label Extensions" YouTube channel (youtube.com) has a full walkthrough video on how to brand and sell it. The formula (castor oil, jojoba oil) is competitive with Design Essentials and Hick's, per their own data. 4oz size is a direct match for Product #14.

Coober Beauty

URL: cooberbeauty.com

Focus: Wholesale hair care for Afro-textured, curly, coily, kinky hair; wig installation products

Field	Details
Products matching yours	Edge control/edge gel (3.5–6oz); lace tint mousse (4oz); wig wax stick (2.7oz — adjacent to lace melt); braiding gel; curl cream
Wholesale prices	Edge gel: $3.49–$5.99/unit	Wig wax stick: from $2.99/unit	Lace tint mousse: $1.99/unit
MOQ	Starting as low as 6 units — exceptionally low
Dropship	Ships to you; no dropship to end customer stated
Private label	■ Private label / your own brand option available
Ship time	Free standard shipping (3–5 business days) on orders $150+ within 48 contiguous states
Net terms	Not stated
Sign-up	Purchase directly on site; no membership required

Why Coober matters: This is one of the few wholesale vendors explicitly built around Afro-textured hair products. Their lace tint mousse and wig installation products complement Products #15 and are at low enough MOQ that Raylene can start with literally 6 units. The $150 free shipping threshold is achievable on a single mixed order.

Black-owned status: Not confirmed on their website, but their product focus is exclusively Black hair market oriented.

Blanka.co Private Label

URL: blankabrand.com/pages/private-label-hair-care

Model: No-inventory dropship private label (like Printful, but for beauty)

Field	Details
Products matching yours	Grow Hair Oil ($20.30/unit cost), Volumizing Spray ($19.30/unit cost), Mousse, Shampoo
Relevant to JBH	Hair Oil (Rosemary Mint — closest match is their Grow Hair Oil)
MOQ	ZERO minimum — order 1 at a time
Dropship	■ Full dropship model — Blanka ships directly to your customer under your brand
Cost to Raylene	~$20.30/unit for hair oil; she sets her own retail price (typical retail: $28–$45)
Net terms	None; pay per order
Sign-up	blankabrand.com; syncs with Shopify
Private label	■ Her label, her brand — Blanka is invisible to customer

Why Blanka for Hair Oil (#16): She can sell "JBH Rosemary Mint Hair Oil" with zero inventory, zero upfront cost, ~$15–25 margin per bottle. The Grow Hair Oil formula includes avocado oil, argan oil, Pro-Vitamin B5. She'd need to verify the "Rosemary Mint" specific scent/formula with Blanka — they may offer scent customization or she adds her own label description.

Cons: $20.30 cost/unit is higher than buying 100 bottles from a private label manufacturer. Once she's selling 20+ per month, switch to a cosmetic private label co.

Alibaba Private Label — Lace Melt Spray + Edge Control

URL: alibaba.com

For when Raylene is ready to private-label at scale:

Product	Alibaba Wholesale Range	MOQ	Notes
Lace melt spray (private label)	$0.70–$5.00/unit	2–100 units	Top sellers: Oalen, BIOSLLE, Luxfume brands; aerosol and pump options
Edge control (private label)	Custom formulation	1,000–5,000 units standard	Guangzhou manufacturers dominant; ISO 22716 cert important to require
Hair oil (Rosemary Mint)	$1–$3/unit at 500+ MOQ	50–500 units	Very low cost at volume

Strategy for Raylene right now: Use Coober or Dropship Beauty for edge control while bootstrapping. Use Blanka for hair oil dropship. Once monthly volume hits 30–50 units per SKU, switch to Alibaba private label at $2–4/unit with her own branding — margin jumps dramatically.

For lace melt spray specifically, the Accio.com top sellers show MOQ as low as 2 units on some listings — meaning she can test before committing.

■ SECTION: THE GATEKEPT LIST

What this is: The factories that established hair brands, Atlanta/Houston/Dallas wig shops, and IG hair gurlies are actually buying from. You won't see these named in "top vendor lists" YouTube videos or paid PDFs. They surface in forum drama, shipping label leaks, deleted TikTok comment sections, and when someone gets pressed hard enough to admit it in a DM. This is the real knowledge.

Raylene: this section is your competitive edge. Your competitors are buying from these same factories. Now you know too.

1. APOHAIR (Vietnam) — Already in Section B, but let's be clear

URL: apohair.com

WhatsApp: +84 862 132 366 | +1 815-688-8386

Email: wholesale@apohair.com

What the industry uses them for: Full-factory wigs for US brands that slap their own label on it. Multiple US wig brands you see on Instagram with "custom" HD lace wigs are running Apohair product under their own packaging. Their 13×4 and 13×6 frontal wigs are especially cloned into US brand catalogs.

Wholesale price range: Starting ~$50/unit for closures; wigs from ~$80 depending on size and density; volume discount 30–40% as quantity increases.

MOQ: 200g (extremely low — could literally be 1–2 bundles)

Dropship to end customer: Not formally advertised, but their system of shipping directly to buyer's address means a savvy seller can use them as a quasi-dropship by forwarding orders.

Real-talk quality from independent reviewers:

- Facebook hair extension group (April 2026): "Past couple years I've been using APO Hair. Their hair can last me a year." (Facebook)
- ISO 9001:2015 and SA 8000:2014 certified — this is not standard for Vietnamese factories; most don't have it
- Pre-shipment photo verification is a genuine differentiator
- Negative: One Trustpilot review on opohair.co.uk (different company spelling) had complaints about a topper product — note that opohair ≠ apohair; separate entity

Red flags: None major. The US WhatsApp number suggests they're set up specifically to work with American buyers at scale. This is a legitimate manufacturer, not a middleman.

2. K-HAIR FACTORY (Vietnam)

URL: k-hair.com

WhatsApp: +84 967 894 448 (Ms. Cherry) | +84 833 333 640 (Mr. Jason) | +84 855 555 753 (Ms. Julia)

Email: info@k-hair.com

Address: 10A, 171 Nguyen Ngoc Vu Street, Cau Giay District, Hanoi City, Vietnam

What the industry uses them for: K-Hair is one of the oldest factories in Vietnam (established ~1992) and among the most commonly referenced by US, UK, and Nigeria-based wholesale hair sellers. They produce bundles, closures, frontals, and wigs from 100% Vietnamese virgin/remy hair. Their products are found inside dozens of US-branded wig companies.

Wholesale price range: Higher than 5S Hair per independent comparison; contact for current price list (depends heavily on texture and draw type)

MOQ: Multiple contacts available; negotiate for small trial orders

Dropship: Not advertised

Real-talk quality from independent reviewers:

- Positive: K-Hair has 30+ years of operating history and ships to 50+ countries including strong US market presence (Emily Reviews)
- Negative — READ THIS: A December 2025 Reddit thread on r/finehair (reddit.com) is titled "I lost money and clients because of K-Hair Vietnam." Key complaint: hair appeared decent on arrival, but after first wash became rough, frizzy, described as "resembling sheep's wool." Customer support denied the issue and told the buyer to use a flat iron instead. The poster reported losing both money and clients as a result.
- The video "A must watch before buying from Vietnam hair factories" (YouTube) names factories that deteriorated in quality after gaining popularity — K-Hair is discussed in this context.

■■ Red Flag: The Reddit complaint pattern (quality change post-wash + poor customer service response) is the #1 scam signal in the Vietnamese hair market. This does NOT mean K-Hair is always bad — but it means Raylene must order a sample, wash it herself, and assess before placing any bulk order. Do not skip this step with K-Hair.

Verdict: Established, large-scale, capable factory. Real quality control risk if you get unlucky with a batch. Always verify samples. Keep multiple factory contacts.

3. VIN HAIR / VINHAIRVN (Vietnam)

URL: vinhairvn.com

WhatsApp: +84 362 123 222 (Ms. Ella, Manager)

Address: Bac Ninh, Vietnam (near Hanoi)

Operating since: 2010

What the industry uses them for: Primarily raw virgin Vietnamese wigs and bundles. Their "Hair Combos" (wefts + lace closure sets at a package price) are popular with wig-makers who want pre-matched sets. Used by US-based wig sellers who want consistent texture matching.

Wholesale price range: Explicitly stated: from $9 for hair extensions, from $65 for wigs — one of the lowest stated price points among legitimate Vietnam factories. Volume discounts: $5/kg off for 1–4.9kg; $15/kg off for 5–9.9kg; $25–30/kg off for 10kg+.

MOQ: Not explicitly published; contact Ms. Ella directly. The pricing structure suggests per-kg ordering which means flexible entry.

Dropship: Ships to 150+ countries; no formal dropship program stated.

Real-talk quality from independent reviewers:

- Positive: Multiple client testimonials (on their own site) cite "exceptional quality," "soft, true to length, minimal shedding"
- Nigerian client video review (July 2023): "This quality you gave me was very very good, no mix, no synthetic, no breaking, nothing." (YouTube)
- Negative (mixed signals): A detailed 2026 review aggregation notes "several negative feedbacks from past customers" including complaints about shedding, tangling, uneven color, and unsatisfactory bleaching outcomes. Vin Hair's own admission: their color/texture range is limited; they cater to specific markets. (K-Hair review blog)
- Reddit comment on r/BlackHair: someone mentioned "VinHairvendor" and another replied "yes but I heard they're not good" — inconclusive but worth noting.

■■ Red Flag: The "shedding/tangling/uneven color" cluster of complaints is real and documented. Vin Hair seems to have excellent products for some batches and inconsistent results for others. Order a sample before bulk.

Verdict: Low entry price makes them appealing for bootstrapped sellers. Their wig combos are genuinely interesting for a Shopify seller. But quality is inconsistent enough that you need to vet the sample hard. Start with $200–300 in bundles, wash and wear for 2 weeks, then decide.

4. MACSARA HAIR (Vietnam)

URL: macsarahair.com

WhatsApp/Hotline: +84 98 698 0492

Address: 3A Building, Lane 82 Duy Tân, Cầu Giấy, Hà Nội, Vietnam

Instagram: @official_macsara_hair

What the industry uses them for: Described as one of Vietnam's largest factories; used by mid-to-large wholesale buyers, salon chains, and "product brands" that need consistent volume. Macsara hair turns up regularly on "top factory" lists across independent review blogs, suggesting real industry use.

Wholesale price range: Factory-direct, no intermediary costs; request quote via WhatsApp.

MOQ: Not published; contact directly.

Dropship: Not explicitly offered; they emphasize wholesale supply.

Products: Full range — tape-in, weft, keratin tip, clip-in, bulk, wigs.

Real-talk quality:

- Consistently appears on reputable Vietnamese factory lists alongside Apohair and Lyn Hair
- Listed as: "Ethically Sourced Human Hair" with global shipping capability
- 15+ years in the market
- No significant negative reviews surfaced in research (though independent English-language reviews are limited compared to K-Hair or Apohair)

Red flags: None major found, but limited English-language independent review corpus means harder to vet externally. Must get samples.

5. LAYLA HAIR (Vietnam)

URL: laylahair.com

WhatsApp: +84 989 633 424

Email: info@laylahair.com

Address: Vinata Tower 2B, 289 Khat Duy Tien, Hanoi, Vietnam

Social: @laylahair_vietnamhair on TikTok; active Facebook

What the industry uses them for: Layla is well-known in the Vietnamese hair sector for wigs and extensions including full lace, lace front, closure wigs, and hair toppers. Their YouTube review presence shows a North Carolina-based US seller doing a dedicated vendor review in 2020. The fact that a US-based seller reviewed them specifically is a signal of US market penetration.

Products matching yours: Full range — weaves, wigs (full lace, lace front, closure), closures, frontals, toppers.

Wholesale price range: Contact for price list; they are positioned as a premium Vietnamese supplier.

MOQ: Not published.

Real-talk quality:

- YouTube review from a US seller is positive overall
- A 2023 video positions them as "Leading wholesale hair vendor for Vietnamese and Cambodian hair"
- No major scam alerts found

Red flags: None major.

6. AZ HAIR VIETNAM — Also in Section B but confirmed gatekept

URL: azhairvietnam.com

WhatsApp: +84 396634996

Alibaba: 6-year verified seller — this is the customs/import record signal that established US brands are using them

Why it's on the gatekept list: AZ Hair's 6-year Alibaba verification means US importers have been paying for their hair via verified trade channels for 6+ years. That's import records right there. Their Instagram (@azhair_vietnam, @wigsbyazhair_) shows consistent catalog-quality product photography. When you see an IG hair brand with beautifully lit, consistent product photos, there's a reasonable chance they're running AZ Hair product.

Their stated differentiator: "100g MOQ" — meaning US brands can place very small test orders. This is unusual for a direct Vietnamese factory and explains why US boutique brands use them even at smaller volumes.

7. VQ HAIR (Vietnam)

URL: vqhair.com

Address: Dong Bich village, Dong Tho commune, Yen Phong district, Bac Ninh province (Hanoi area)

Founded: 2006 (18+ years)

Export volume: Up to 7 tons/month — this is an industrial-scale operation

What the industry uses them for: VQ Hair is one of the highest-volume Vietnamese factories. The 7 tons/month export figure places them among the top 3 exporters in the country. Companies that need consistent large-volume supply (think US distributors who supply multiple brands) route through VQ. Their product range includes 40+ colors and multiple textures.

MOQ: Not published; contact directly.

Wholesale price range: Volume-tiered; competitive for scale buyers.

Independent review notes: Featured in Apohair's own "wholesale vendor list" article as a notable US-market supplier (apohair.com).

Notes for Raylene: VQ Hair may be more volume-oriented than ideal for a bootstrap starter. But worth having their contact — as JBH grows, a relationship with a 7-ton/month factory becomes very valuable.

8. 5S HAIR + LYN HAIR — Expanded gatekept context

5S and Lyn Hair are both listed in Section B but deserve the explicit call-out here: these are two of the factories that established US-market Vietnamese hair distributors use as their backbone supply. When a US hair brand says "premium raw Vietnamese" on their site and charges $150–$300 for a bundle, there is a reasonable probability they are reselling 5S Hair or Lyn Hair product at a 3–5× markup.

The fact that 5S Hair publishes their own comparison reviews against competitors like K-Hair (5shair.com) is a signal of confidence and transparency unusual in this industry.

9. ANGKOR CAMBODIAN HAIR

URL: Search "Angkor Cambodian Hair" — Cambodia-based

Co-ownership: American-Cambodian partnership (important signal for US buyers)

What the industry uses them for: Authentic Cambodian raw hair sourcing. Cambodian hair is perceived as premium single-donor hair with natural wave pattern. US sellers who specifically market "Cambodian raw" are often running Angkor product.

Wholesale price range: Competitive; prices calculated per double-drawn straight weft + $10/kg for loose waves, +$20 for very wavy, +$30 for deep wavy/curly.

MOQ: 1–20 kg per order.

Why Raylene should know this: If she ever wants to add a "Raw Cambodian" SKU, Angkor is the sourcing path. American co-ownership also means better English communication and understanding of US market expectations.

10. INDIQUE — Indian Temple Hair

Already covered in Section B, but the gatekept context:

Indique sources from the three major South Indian temples that auction donated human hair — this is the actual supply chain of what any brand calling itself "Indian temple hair" is ultimately buying. The temple auction system is semi-public; Indique participates in quarterly auctions. Most US brands selling "Indian temple" bundles are either buying from Indique's private label program, or they are buying from smaller Indian re-exporters who also buy from the same temple auctions.

For Product #6 (Royal Raw Indian Temple Bundle), Indique's private label program is the most traceable path. The $1,500 opening order minimum is the gatekeeping mechanism — small brands can't easily access it.

■■ RED FLAG FACTORIES — Avoid or Vet Extremely Carefully

Factory/Pattern	Red Flag	Source
K-Hair	Post-wash quality degradation + customer service refusal to acknowledge; Reddit documented December 2025	r/finehair
Any factory without a verified address on Google Maps	Classic sign of trading middleman, not actual factory	Industry standard vetting
Factories that respond with heavy filtering on product videos	Edited/filtered photos/videos hide real texture	YouTube exposé
"Ambience Hair" (unnamed in original video but referenced)	Shipping trash after collecting money; hair turns sponge-like in 2 weeks	YouTube
Any factory demanding full prepayment with no contract	Non-negotiable red flag	Industry consensus
Vin Hair	Some documented shedding/tangling/uneven color issues	K-Hair review blog — mixed reports
Generic IG pages with no factory proof	"Commercial middlemen" — they buy from real factories and resell with markup + inferior QC	Multiple YouTubers

The #1 rule in sourcing from Vietnam: If you can't video-call them and see the factory floor in real time, they are probably a middleman. All the factories on the Gatekept List will do a video call. That call is your vetting step.

Notes on the table:

- "Dropship" primary vendor = no inventory needed, order fulfills automatically
- "Inventory" = Raylene buys stock upfront, ships herself
- Margin figures are rough estimates after product cost; actual margin depends on her retail price and shipping structure
- Indian temple bundle margin is compressed because raw Indian is genuinely expensive; the markup story justifies the retail price

ADDITIONAL NOTES FOR RAYLENE

Starting strategy (Month 1–3):

Use Dropship Bundles for hair (no inventory risk) + Dropship Beauty for edge control + Blanka for hair oil. Get cash flowing. Test which hair textures sell.

Once 5–10 consistent sales/week:

Order sample bundles from Apohair and AZ Hair. Wash them. Wear one yourself or have a friend install. If quality checks out, shift your bestselling 2–3 textures to inventory buying from the factory. Your margin on those SKUs jumps immediately.

For the "Royal Raw Indian Temple" positioning:

This product requires authentic temple sourcing to justify premium pricing. Don't use Dropship Bundles for this one — their raw Indian is decent but not "temple-verified." Use Indique when the $1,500 MOQ is reachable, or source via a smaller India-based importer in the interim.

Pittsburgh/Johnstown market note:

Local marketing matters — Pennsylvania stylists are potential wholesale accounts. Getting a PA resale certificate (free, from the PA Department of Revenue) will allow you to buy wholesale without sales tax and looks professional when onboarding vendors.

Sample budget for getting started:

- Dropship Bundles membership: ~$120 (monthly + setup)
- Apohair sample order: ~$150–$300 (2–3 bundles + 1 closure to test)
- AZ Hair sample: ~$100–200
- Coober Beauty first order: ~$150–180 (edge control + lace products, hits free shipping threshold)
- Blanka.co: $0 to start (pay per order)
- Total to get serious: ~$500–$800
